

MORNING MOCHA

Global markets remained on edge as investors keenly await guidance on future rate trajectory at Jackson Hole. With growth momentum in EU and UK slowing down significantly, expectations of further rate hikes are dwindling. On the other hand, US economy is in a better space. Recent data showed that while both manufacturing and services activity slipped in Aug'23, labour market continues to remain strong. The job for the Fed hence seems challenging, with two Fed officials favouring a hawkish pause. In Japan, core CPI inflation in Tokyo eased further, but remained well above BoJ's target at 2.8% in Aug'23. Minutes of RBI's last meeting suggest that while members were optimistic on growth, they remained wary of risks to the inflation outlook. Risks to the inflation outlook remain from uneven rainfall and El-Nino which will require careful monitoring by RBI.

Global stocks closed mixed. Investors remained cautious tracking Fed officials' comments as well as tight labour market data in US. Two Fed officials spoke of a hawkish pause. Asian stocks rose amidst hopes of more stimulus in China. Sensex fell by 0.3%, led by losses in metal and consumer durables stocks. It is trading further lower today, in line with other Asian stocks.

Except INR and CNY, other global currencies ended weaker. DXY rose by 0.5% as US jobless claims fell more than expected last week suggesting continued tightness in the labour market. GBP depreciated the most by 1% even as GfK's consumer confidence index for UK picked up. INR appreciated supported by FPI inflows. However, it is trading weaker today, in line with other Asian currencies.
