Global macro indicators remained mixed. While China's Official manufacturing PMI reading rose to its highest since Apr'12 to 52.6 in Feb'23 (est.: 50.6), for Japan it fell down to 47.7, the slowest pace in past 2.5 years. For US, the Conference Board Consumer Confidence Index dropped to 102.9 against est.: 108.5, dragged down by muted outlook for income and business conditions in the near term. In Australia, GDP rose less than expected by 0.5% (est.: 0.8%) in Q4CY22. Elsewhere in the Eurozone, inflation reading in France and Spain signalled elevated price pressure. On domestic front, GDP growth for Q3 has come in at 4.4%. The major disappointment is negative growth in manufacturing sector.

- Except Nikkei and Shanghai Comp, other global indices ended lower. US stocks ended lower amidst an unexpected decline in US consumer confidence and a further slowdown in home prices. Nikkei rose by 0.1% supported by gains in technology stocks. Sensex declined by 0.6% led by losses in metal and oil and gas stocks. However, it is trading higher today in line with other Asian stocks, buoyed by positive PMI data from China.

- Global currencies ended mixed. DXY rose by 0.2% despite a surprise fall in US consumer confidence index. EUR fell by 0.3% even as inflation in both France and Spain picked up more than expected in Feb'23. INR appreciated by 0.2%. It is trading further stronger today, in line with other Asian currencies.

- Except Japan and China (stable), global yields closed higher. Germany's 10Y yield rose the most by 7bps ahead of its flash CPI reading, which is expected to increase by 0.5% in Feb'23, on MoM basis. Even some major economies of Eurozone posted hotter than expected inflation data, posing risks to ECB's future rate outlook. India's 10Y yield rose a tad by 1bps to 7.46%, tracking rising oil prices. It is trading at 7.45% today.
